Potential Winners and Losers in the EU Market

Chances are 2018 will be a year where intelligent stock picking can make a difference. As stock indices have lost the momentum that was recorded in 2017, we expect to see a strong distribution of performance. This brings a significant opportunity to outperform benchmarks using a selection process that can capture specific trends of individual stocks.

This report is published weekly by Trendrating and offers a selection of future potential winners and losers.

The winners are stocks that have been upgraded to A or B.

The losers are securities that have been downgraded to C or D.

The upgrades and downgrades have been generated by Trendrating over the last 20 days.

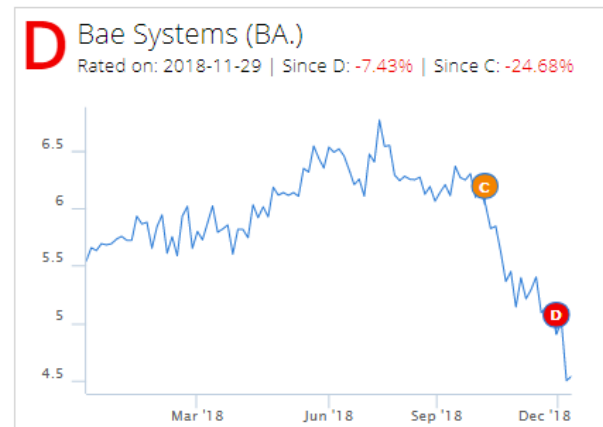

The full list of upgrades and downgrades is available in the Trendrating Platform.

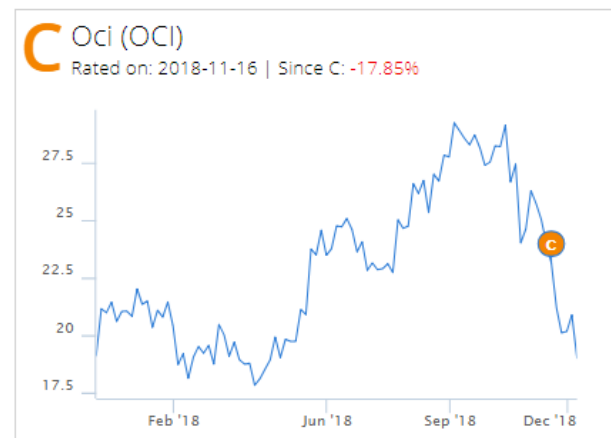

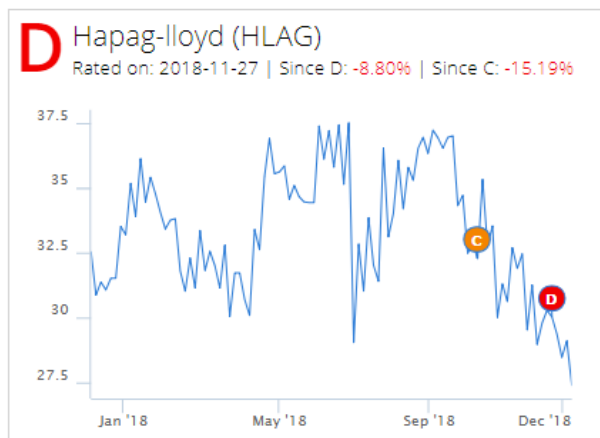

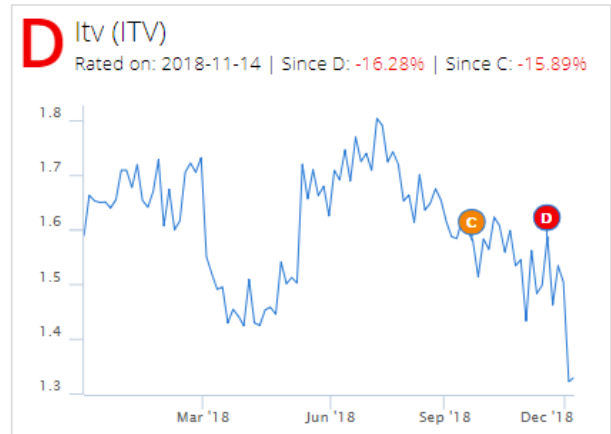

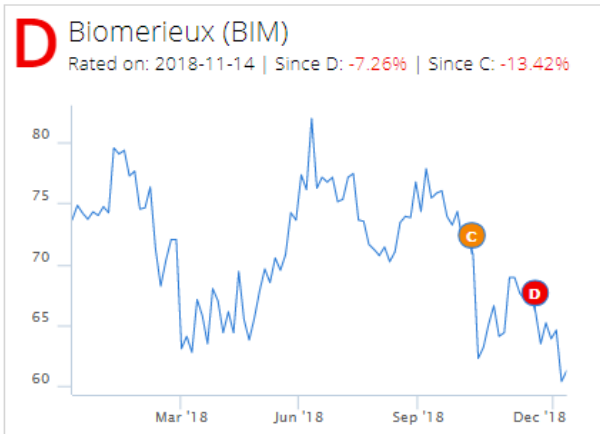

We trust this report can help both in terms of returns enhancement and risk control.
